Gettysburg college students and faculty will donate 450 pints of blood to the national blood program of the American Red Cross at the college April 26 and 27.

The Adams county chapter of the Red Cross will cooperate in the project initiated by the Interfraternity council at the college and arranged by officials of the Red Cross from eastern area headquarters at Alexandria, Va.

L. Grant McCubbin, field representative for the Red Cross blood program, who came here to set up plans for the project said Gettysburg college is the first in the nation to make such an offer to the Red Cross.

Local Chapter To Help

"The Red Cross was glad to accept the offer of the campus IPC," Mr. McCubbin said. "We think it is a fine thing that these students to offer to contribute blood to our national program. We are glad to help carry out such a fine project on the Gettysburg college campus."

The local chapter will provide nurses' aides, canteen corps service and possibly motor corps assistance for the two-day project. Registrations of prospective donors are being handled on the campus. John Blair and David Finney are in charge of the project for the IPC and Prof. Lester O. Johnson is handling faculty recruiting.

Students who are under 21 years of age are required to secure signed parents' consent slips before they will be accepted as blood donors.

Blood received here will be processed and distributed without charge under the national blood program of the Red Cross.

The blood donor project will be the first conducted here since the Red Cross sent a mobile unit here regularly during the war years. That service was suspended in 1943.

TO SEND COUNTY BOY TO PA. CAMP

Voiture No. 731, Forty and Eight, at its regular April promenade Friday night at the chateau in the mountains, voted to send an Adams county boy to the Keystone Boys' camp at Indiantown Gap this summer. The voiture will pay all expenses. It will be a part of the voiture's Americanism program.

Members also voted to offer the facilities of the chateau, the former Marsh Creek hunting camp, to the Gettysburg Fire department for their summer meetings. The firemen for several years have met during the summer at "The Firemen's Retreat" but the owner of this property died recently.

Because of the prohibitive cost of purchasing or building a Forty and Eight locomotive and box car, money in this fund was turned over to the welfare fund of the voiture.

Chief de Gare Raymond Spahr presided at the business meeting. Eighteen voyageurs were present. A "feed" followed the meeting.

Dignitaries from throughout Pennsylvania were present to help the local commandery celebrate the anniversary of its founding on September 25, 1899 when 13 charter members were initiated. He said that the application for membership was received from Charles W. Myers in June, 1908. Mr. Myers became eminent commander for the year 1916-1917.

BOWLERS OPEN 60-DAY MEET

Columbus, O., April 15 (AP)—America's best bowlers were off and rolling today in quest of a share of the $377,000 prize fund, second largest offered in the ABC.

The 60-day Congress, staged over 36 new alleys in the State Fairgrounds Coliseum, features 5108 five-man teams, 11,117 doubles combinations, 22,459 in the race for individual honors.

The entrants represent 968 cities or towns, 41 states, Alaska, Canada, and the district of Columbia. Five-man events are scheduled each night, with the singles and doubles the following day for each team.

Contestants will bowl against new pins, each set being removed after nine games to assure uniform conditions. The entrants poured $616,909 into the affair in entry fees, and the ABC had spent some $275,000 of it before the first ball was rolled this morning.

Today's program called for 144 teams, 108 in the "booster" category and 36 regulars. The boosters—teams with 850 or lower averages—seek a slice of a separate prize pool, but may also fire into the big money.

Of the 5108 teams, 1585 are boosters this year. No matter what their average, all think they have a chance to roll into first place and snatch a spot in the Hall of Fame.

Magazine Features Lane Display Idea

Picture and Gift Journal for April, published at St. Louis, Mo., contains an article and picture of a portable display fixture for picture frame samples, evolved by Walter B. Lane, the Lane Studio, 34 York street.

The display utilizes 16 by 20 pieces of cardboard to which wallpaper, in various patterns, has been pasted. The arrangement is pivoted from a center pole, and gives Mr. Lane 30 different wallpaper backgrounds for frame sample displays.

"Customers like the idea, for it gives them a better idea how the frame will look in their homes," says the magazine. "The 30 patterns of wallpaper usually contain a pattern similar in color or design to that which they have on their own walls."

The photograph in the magazine shows Miss Anne Stock receptionist at the Lane Studio, demonstrating the display. Mr. Lane is a former Time and Life photographer, and opened his studio early in 1947.

MAJOR LEAGUE TEAMS HALTED BY WEATHERMAN

(By The Associated Press)
All 16 major league baseball teams had a single thought today—“Feather!” they could play their scheduled exhibition games.

With their season openers almost upon them, the clubs were anxious for action. Ten big league teams had been slated to play yesterday but the calendar-defying elements—snow and cold—cut their exercise to no more than a vigorous session of gin rummy or a neck-straining slance at the skies.

The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers were to have opened a three-game set at Brooklyn's Ebbets Field in what was tagged a “replay” of last fall's World Series. But snow fell for a second straight day—almost an inch of it. About 17,000 tickets had been sold, too.

The world champion Yankees and Brooklyn's National League pennant holders were to try again, at Yankee stadium.

Other games wiped out in the “cold war” with the weatherman yesterday were:

New York Giants vs. Cleveland at Indianapolis; Washington at Baltimore; Cincinnati at Richmond, Ind.; Boston Red Sox at Boston; Braves and Chicago Cubs vs. Chicago White Sox at Chicago.

The Chicago clubs, figuring on making up the loss of yesterday's contest, scheduled a doubleheader at Wrigley Field tomorrow. One game was slated for today at Comiskey park.

Keltner Joins Boston
Of today's nine scheduled games, all but two pitted major league clubs against each other. In the two others, Detroit was visiting Louisville of the American Association and Cincinnati was to meet Indianapolis, also an American Association team.

While yesterday's diamond developments strongly resembled a weather report, the dreary day did produce several items of interest.

Veteran infielder Ken Keltner, who on Wednesday was unconditionally released by the Cleveland Indians, lost little time making a good deal for himself. Ken, from his Milwaukee home, phoned General Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox and got a job. No terms were announced. It was believed Ken would fit in mostly as a pinch-hitter and add some reserve power to the Boston team—something it could have used more of the past couple of seasons.

The Yankees sold two players outright and optioned two others to their Kansas City farm club. Pitcher Frank (Spec) Shea, a 1947 star with the parent club but a disappointment since, and bonus pitcher Paul Hinrichs were sold. Optioned were first baseman Fenton Mole and pitcher Wally Hood.

The Pittsburgh Pirates sold Ray Poat, 33-year-old righthanded pitcher, to the Baltimore Orioles of the International league.

York Springs high unleashed five extra base blows to defeat Newville 8-4 in an Adams County league game Friday afternoon and thereby moved into a three-way deadlock with Littlestown and Biglerville for first place.

Two other games were postponed due to cold weather. It was announced that Boiling Springs will play at East Berlin today at 1:30 p. m. The date for the Biglerville at Littlestown contest has not been set.

After Newville scored a pair of runs in the opening inning, Glenn Guise, York Springs infielder, tripled to score two runs in the third. Another triple by Kemper with the bases loaded in the sixth clinched the decision for Coach Kennedy's outfit.

In registering the victory, Johnny Cristofaro fanned 10 batters and gave up but five hits.

The Pittsburgh Pirates sold Ray Poat, 33-year-old righthanded pitcher, to the Baltimore Orioles of the International league.

Pittsburgh, April 15 (AP)—Ray Poat, a right handed pitcher who never could quite make it as a major leaguer, is back in the minors today—apparently for good.

On the basis of what he accomplished in the minors, and what he's failed to do in the majors, the 33-year-old hurler is apt to win at least a dozen games for Baltimore of the International league this season.

Poat was sold to Baltimore for an undisclosed sum by the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday. It marked the third he had been released by a major league club.

Previously Poat had been with the Cleveland Indians and the New York Giants. He came to the Pirates in a trade with the Giants last year but had only a 0-1 record. His most notable achievement was the 1-0 victory he achieved over Cleveland in an exhibition game.

JIM JEFFRIES HONORED TODAY ON BIRTHDAY

Burbank, Calif., April 15 (AP)—It's diamond jubilee time today in the life of the last of the world's old line heavyweight champions, James J. Jeffries.

It's big Jim's 75th birthday, and No. 75 finds him still a strapping bear of a man, alert and as friendly, but a little on the ailing side.

There have been many large birthday parties for the onetime king of the ring, but this one has taken on the aspects of an official holiday—city and state.

Burbank's official city family has proclaimed it "Jim Jeffries day," and Gov. Earl Warren has extended official greetings to boilermaker Jim.

And the sports crowd, with the boxing delegation in the fore, was invited en masse to Jeffries' sprawling cottage for a birthday party this afternoon.

Jeffries was born April 15, 1875, in the little town of Carroll, Ohio. The family moved to Los Angeles when Jim was a youngster, and it was there that he grew and developed into what many an old timer insists was the greatest heavyweight of all time.

Deeply etched in the annals of boxing, of course, are the highlights of the Jeffries fighting career—his 11th round knockout over Bob Fitzsimmons for the championship in 1899, his two knockouts over "Gentleman Jim" Corbett, his battles with Sailor Tom Sharkey, and yes, his ill-advised, unwise come-back attempt against Jack Johnson in 1910, five years after he had retired, undefeated in 23 major bouts.

The chance and choir of the church were completely reconstructed and finished in oak. The pulpit was reconstructed to become the present altar, and a pulpit, lectern and two clergy seats were provided as additional chancel furniture. The floors of the sanctuary were sanded and refinished. The ceiling, walls, woodwork, pews and all other furnishings, were painted or re-finished. New carpet and new window shades were installed, and the painting above the altar was re-tinted. A complete set of white paraments for the altar, lectern and pulpit were made by Mrs. Edward Gibbs with the materials being provided by the Women's Guild of the church.

The Women's Guild through the following committee, Mrs. William Gibbs, Jr., Mrs. Mervin Kimmel and Mrs. Arthur Bubb conducted the remodeling and refurbishing of the church and the congregation sponsored the remaining part of the improvements. A dedication booklet and the re-dedication services were planned by the following committee: William Gibbs, Sr., Arthur L. Bubb, Mrs. Edward Gibbs, Mrs. William Gibbs, Jr., and Mrs. Arthur Bubb.

The brass altar cross was presented by Mr. and Mrs. William Gibbs, Sr., and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. William Gibbs, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gibbs and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gibbs. A pair of brass candlesticks and a candle-lighter and extinguisher were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Kimmel and Mr. and Mrs. Morrill Bosserman. GROWING PAINS

We ought not to become too easily discouraged in this life. Troubles, worries, and problems often come not singly, but in droves! They may be, however, no more than growing pains that have come to us thus to test our courage, our endurance, and our faith.

Even unhappiness, in some form or other, may be no more than growing pains getting in their work. And it should be remembered that these pains are not the heir of any particular period in life, but scattered all through the years.

How often a man is suddenly given a responsible task, for which he may think he is ill suited, but, who arises to the occasion, demonstrating that these growing pains were at work through a long period, without realizing their importance.

During long periods of discouragement these growing pains are most evident. They really signify promise of happier days. So we all should remember to "hang on," when things seem darkest, for they are sure to change—never a day but what the sun actually shines behind the clouds.

It is heartening to know that these growing pains come to all from the poorest and least educated to the very elect. They put us all on common ground, where we all ought to be at all times anyway. Universal sympathy and understanding could save the world! Perhaps this old earth of ours is now but going through its growing pains! If it is, then let us hope and pray that universal peace and justice shall result.

The greater the shadow the more pronounced becomes the sun behind. So it is with our lives, when we get lowest in spirit those growing pains may be nearer to a noble triumph than ever before. Never lose courage at such a time. The dawn may be but a few hours away! When you feel most like giving up—don't! Let those growing pains do their best. It has been said it is always darkest just before dawn.

cheerless shack

From end to end,
And laughed to see what left had he

For them to spend.

Golf Torture
As if there were not woes enough
In life to suffer,

The golf course must be lined with rough
To plague the suffer.

Dandelions

Because with every spring I see
So many of them
The dandelions prove to me

The Lord must love them.

Fate

When death with grim disaster

With two nearby,

I wonder just how fate decides
Who'll live; who'll die?

Anyone who thinks automobiles make people lazy hasn't been a pedestrian lately.

Easy On Those Brakes

One reason so little is standardized with regard to brake adjustments is because there is such a wide variation in driving habits. Some people—the smart ones—use the brakes about one-third as much as those who drive with little regard for the effect of excessively built up momentum. Normally a car should be able to run 15,000 miles before the brake shoes need taking up, but many go way over this. Something that will interest the folk who wisely conserve is that dropping the average speed from 50 to 40 miles per hour has the effect of postponing brake shoe adjustments so much as 5,000 miles.

A minimum of brake use also results in many other savings, including the life of the individual brake pistons and the brake drums. Too vigorous brake action at low car speeds will often jam a piston cup or warp a drum. Wear on the tires which results from this also has a reverse action on the brakes by having a tendency to throw them out of equalization.

This One Is Safe

Recently a reader acquired a special tire pump which derives its power from the engine. After removing a spark plug the special pump is screwed into the motor. The engine does the rest.

He is worried for fear gas gets into the tires, and wonders what would happen on a hot day when it expands.

I've checked over a similar pump which I always carry in my car and find that it admits only fresh air. The compressed gases in the particular cylinder merely operate the pump, air being drawn into the pump from outside the engine. It isn't pure air by any means but about as pure as any air at a busy service station.

Things To Remember

Weak rear springs cause excessive front-end caster by letting the car sag toward the rear, but weak front springs cause reverse caster.

Before installing a new cartridge always wipe out the shell of the oil filter.

No need to be so proud of the car if it runs exceptionally well at very low speed in high gear. It probably is timed late and isn't running efficiently at normal speeds.

Mechanic Joe Speaking

"After all these years you'd expect there could be little if any slip-up in the business of using hydrometers to test batteries, but a very common mistake is to slop around with the job until there are air bubbles in the solution. It is important to guard against this sort of thing.

"If bubbles are permitted to form there will be a false impression of the level. Thus when the battery heats up as it is charged from the car's generator, the electrolyte level will then be low. If it is below the tops of the plates there will be trouble ahead."

Time For Pump Change

When warmer weather arrives it will help acceleration and slow down gas consumption to change the position of the arm of the carburetor's acceleration pump. Many cars have a provision for this, some providing three different positions for as many lengths of pump stroke. For warm weather the pump needs a shorter stroke. This provides less fuel and thus a leaner mixture for the flash getaway. Sometimes a sluggishness on acceleration is directly traceable to an over-rich acceleration pump mixture. If the pump seems to be giving normal results on the long stroke the chances are that it needs to be rebuilt.

Switch Them Off

For efficiency's sake, and also out of kindness to the pocketbook, always switch off the car radio when operating the starter-motor. This may save burning out a radio tube. Switch off the lights, too, when cranking the engine at night as this will spare the battery an overload and also aid the start, especially if the engine is cold. The car heater is another gadget that should not be in action when the motor is being cranked. Often, on the night before, it is left switched on and stops merely because it is in series with the ignition.

If Wipers Don't "Park"

Where the blades of a vacuum operated windshield wiper do not stop at the frame of the windshield when turned off, the chances are that they are not properly positioned on their shafts. Take off the blades, start up the engine, run the wiper motor and then turn it off. Put the blades back on the shafts so that they are in the parking position at the frame of the windshield.

Should Oil Be Used?

Maybe you too have wondered if a car uses more oil of one brand than another whether it would be better lubricated with the oil that burns off faster. I've had this query several times, and it always opens up several avenues of discussion. For one thing, it reminds us that to do a job oil should not last indefinitely. That is, some of the oil supply should be used up getting into the upper portion of the cylinder bores. It's the old story of your not being able to eat your cake and have it, too.

Of course, if there is too much difference between oils there's a good chance that one is much better suited to the motor than the other. There may be a difference in quality. The chances are, however, that the difference is due to grade or perhaps to the way the car is used during the test periods. It is difficult in normal driving to give two batches of oil the identical service.

From The Note Book

Economy runs are based on a ton mileage gallon formula. Multiply the weight of the car and its passengers by the number of miles covered and divide the number of gallons of gas consumed over the test run.

Newest wrinkle is for the established car makers to offer an occasional test car to get consumer reaction. If there are too many criticisms, or there appears to be no genuine interest, the project is dropped. It really isn't too new. Remember the copper-cooled motor shown at one of the motor exhibitions back in the 20's under a famous nameplate?

Having Their Troubles

Q. The hydraulic valve lifters in the motor of my car seem to be noisy for a few minutes when I first start out on a cool morning. Am using the grade of lubricant recommended by the manufacturer. Have heard this tappet noise with other cars with such lifters but it lasts but a fraction of a minute. H.D.F.

A. Your engine has valves in the head. Probably there is more drainage of oil from the valve lifters. The other cars you mentioned have L-head motors with valves in the side.

Q. The tappets on my car have a self-adjusting nut. How tight should these be set? H.M.N.

A. We seem to be tapping out a lot of tappet talk. A torque wrench is needed here. Torque should be at least 25 inch pounds.

Q. Will high oil pressure cause high oil consumption? W. M.

A. Absolutely, Mr. M. You can cut down on pressure by changing the spring of the pressure relief valve on your motor.

Q. The performance of a new carburetor I have installed is excellent. In fact, it works so well that I seldom have to choke for a cold start. Yet gas mileage is very low. Any ideas? R.V.N.

A. This one is simple. If an engine can be started without choking, and if it is cold at the time, the indications are that it is being fed an overly rich mixture. This carburetor needs smaller jets, a checking of the float level and an adjustment of liding mixture.

Q. Would it save gas in my car to have a higher rear axle ratio? I believe I know where I could get the necessary gears. Wm. L.L.Jr.

A. I'd forget about this. With the higher gearing and that low motor output you'd have to change to second gear on most hills and too much of the time in city traffic. That is always wasteful.

Q. Some sap has been dripping on the hood of my car. Would gasoline remove this H.B.B.

A. Gasoline would do the job but might be rough on the hood. I would use tar remover. After removing the sap, re-polish the hood and re-wax.

Q. There's a very annoying rattle under the dash of my car. It seems to have something to do with the steering gear. It's heard when the car is running along at about 35 miles per hour. J.M.C.B.

A. I think this is in the clutch. The fingers are striking on the clutch housing. This means a clutch overhaul.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at Fern street, West Hartford, 7, Conn., and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

San Francisco, April 15 (AP)—The Flying Bixbys completed their globe girdling flight Thursday—10 days behind schedule. They landed here, their April 1 takeoff point, at 3:06 a. m. (6:06 a. m. EST).

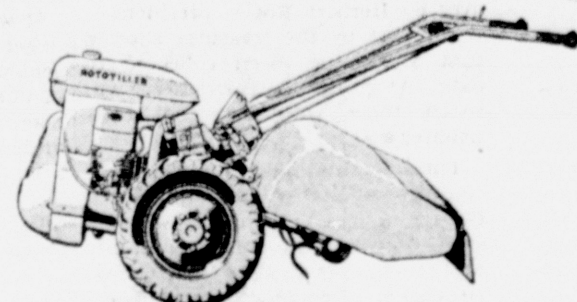

They had hoped to shatter the late Bill Odom's world circling record of 73 hours, five minutes, 11 seconds. But engine trouble near Calcutta smashed that dream. Magneto trouble at Tokyo forced a second delay.

MEN'S CHORUS
HOLDS BANQUET

Seventy members of the Littlestown Men's chorus and their guests were present at the second annual banquet of the chorus held Friday evening in the social hall of Redeemer's Reformed church when a roast chicken dinner was served by the Mustler's Sunday school class of the church. Chester S. Byers, the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds and L. Robert Crouse comprised the program committee. The Rev. Mr. Reynolds served as master of ceremonies.

The invocation was given by the Rev. David S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, and a member of the chorus. Special music was provided by Robert Myers and Janet Markle, Hanover, who were third place winners in the Amateur show sponsored by the Littlestown Lions club on Thursday night. They sang several vocal duets. Remarks were made by the director, L. Robert Snyder, and the treasurer, J. Robert Sell. The program committee also entertained with a humorous vocal selection.

Guest speaker for the occasion was the Rev. H. E. Sheely, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, Hanover. His subject was "Harmony in the World."

Chorus Two Years Old
Guests at the banquet included wives and friends of the 33 chorus members, the two pianists, the eight members of the Women's group, the sponsors of the chorus' radio program, Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd I. Crouse, Mr. and Mrs. Nevaeh Crouse and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Reck, and the announcer and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Edwards from Hanover radio station, WHVR.

The centerpiece at the speaker's table was an arrangement of 33 daffodils, representing the chorus membership, with the director in the center. A "musical note" favor was presented to each one present.

This chorus, which is self-supporting through concerts and singing engagements and is not associated with any group or organization, was organized in Littlestown on April 8, 1948, with 25 members. The present membership is 33 and two pianists, as well as a Women's group of eight. This Women's group with Patsy Crouse as vocalist was added during the past year to add variety to the programs.

To Sing For Vets
During these two years, in addition to their many engagements outside of the community, they have presented two concerts in the Littlestown high school auditorium and two series of 13 weekly, half hour broadcasts over Station WHVR. Their second series of broadcasts, January 8 to April 2, 1950, was broadcast from the P. O. S. of A.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg — The Entre Nous
Sewing club met at the home of hall, Littlestown. Proceeds from their programs were used to purchase uniforms. In 1948, they purchased coats, ties and handkerchiefs. In 1949, their uniforms were completed with the purchase of trousers. Approximately $1,200 was invested in this attire.

The chorus is planning to present a concert during the fall at the Veterans' hospital, Lebanon, where a concert was presented during 1949.

Legionnaires Meet
Commander Garian R. Gillespie was in charge of the semi-monthly meeting of the Ocker Snyder Post No. 321, American Legion, held on Thursday evening at the post home, East King street, following the Veterans show. John Warehime presented the adjutant's report. A new member, Paul Arnold, Biglerville, was accepted into the organization. It was decided to purchase new sheets for the Littlestown community ambulance, which was originally a Legion sponsored project. Plans were advanced for the Junior baseball team, to be sponsored by the legion.

It was announced that Central Vice Commander James Heffernan, York, and District Commander Wilbur A. Geiselman, Gettysburg, will be present at the next meeting on Thursday, April 27, at 8 p. m. at the post home.

Aren't You Grown-ups Ashamed?

There is no use pretending you don't see me. You just sit still and listen.

I'm not very smart yet, but I'm smart enough to see what you are doing to the country in which I must grow up and support my family.

When I do that, will I be allowed to be myself, or will I be a social security number in a government file?

When I get sick, whose doctor can I go to, my doctor or the government doctor?

When I go to school, who is going to decide what I learn, my mother and father or a government bureau?

When I am able to afford a house, will I be able to build one just as good as I can make it, or will it be a government-built house, worth only part of what the government taxed me for housing?

When I go to work, will I be able to pick my own job, or will I have to get a work permit from the government and take whatever job they give me?

And if I have criticized the government, will I get a work permit?

II

What makes you think it would be "bad" for me to have to make my way in competition with others?

If I work a little harder, or better, or get lucky, will I be able to keep any more of what I earn than the other fellow who didn't work as hard, or as well, or get as lucky?

This luck business is important: In your heart you know that in the game of life there has to be a jackpot, or the game won't be played very hard.

Where did you get the cockeyed idea that the man who earns twice as much should be taxed four times as much?

(I know where you got it: right out of Marx.)

When did you get this idea that government can take care of everybody?

You know you can't get something for nothing; yet you pretend that people in Washington can give you things without first taking them away from you.

Don't try to blame the people in politics: They are simply doing what you want them to do. Naturally they favor the things you favor because getting elected is their business.

They would change overnight if you would.

And don't get the idea that they respect you for being saps: Only a fool can be sold a ride on his own horse.

And that is exactly what is happening when you vote yourself "security" by giving the government more and more so the government can give you some of it back.

I'd rather risk having to stand on a breadline a few times than spending my life standing on line for government handouts.

III

And you men who run labor unions: You know darn well that unearned wage increases are stage money.

And how about you folks who manage America's business; don't you know any better, and can't you do something about it?

Even I know that you can't expect prosperity when everybody is getting more money for producing fewer things.

Have you forgotten that the only reason Americans produce so much more and live so much better and easier is the whopping supply of tools of production that people used to be willing to save for in the days when profit was not a nasty word?

At the rate you are now going, the private property system will fall apart, and the tools will fall apart with it: Then goodbye America—and me!

What's wrong with the idea of paying people fairly for the use of the tools bought with their savings? The tools do most of the work.

I don't quite know what you mean by the word "conservative," but if it means what I think it means, that's me!

If there were any other place in the world where government wouldn't plan my life for me even more so, it wouldn't be so bad, but America is the only place left — and look what you are doing to it.

Aren't you ashamed!!!!

DUFF FINISHES WESTERN TRIP

(By The Associated Press)

Gov. James H. Duff was back at his desk in Harrisburg today with western Pennsylvania still ringing with his call for expansion of "government run for the welfare of the people."

At Bedford, the governor, who is seeking GOP nomination for U.S. senator, told a crowd of 2,500 persons that "in these troubled days we are our brother's keepers in a way we have never been before."

Again former Senator Joseph R. Grundy came under attack as a "reactionary who would have you believe that he would provide additional facilities in our mental institutions if there were a need for them but who is against them because it is a waste of the people's money."

Earlier, at Conneville, John S. Fine, who retired from a superior court judgeship to run for governor, on the Duff ticket, spoke. Fine said there are thousands of Democrats who "want to come home to the Republican party but who will not return to a house that is controlled by outmoded ex-carter leadership."

He said these people would not return to the GOP unless "they have a revitalized and unshackled organization, a party that is sympathetic with the aspirations of the people."

Says Goldfish Like Cowboys Best On TV

Wayne, Pa., April 15 (AP)—Maj. William J. Bates, Jr., keeps a goldfish bowl near his television set. Says the major, commandant of Valley Forge Military academy: "The fish swim round and round ignoring the TV vaudeville shows and news programs. But when there is a western movie the fish stop swimming and watch the cowboys in action."

Bates insists the fish never miss the cowboys.

But today Power-Packed Sinclair Gasolines stop rust and corrosion. They contain RD-119, miracle anti-rust chemical developed by Sinclair Research.

Get POWER-PACKED Performance PLUS ANTI-RUST Protection at no extra cost. Use new, Anti-Rust Sinclair H-C or Sinclair Ethyl Gasoline regularly.
